They left her insensible on the ground, and made their escape. They were subsequently captured, after a sharp fight, and are now in jail.

The Leader vs. the Gazette.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

I perceive that the conductors of that sweet-scented sheet, the Leader, charge the GAZETTE with slandering their pure reputation! The ground of this charge is this: "That the editors of the GAZETTE had stated that the Leader had advised the Germans to observe the Fourth of July on Sunday." You thus, it seems, were guilty of "defaming" the exalted reputation of the men of the Leader.

Now, this is a serious charge; and if you, editors of the GAZETTE are guilty, you certainly behaved very badly. Let us see. "Slander," according to Webster, "is a false tale or report maliciously uttered, and tending to injure the reputation of another." Of course, "slander" implies three things: 1. Falsehood; 2. Malice, and 3. A tendency to injure reputation. But how is it conceivable that the charge made by you, viz.: "Advising the Germans to observe the Fourth of July on Sunday," could possibly injure or defame the Leader? Does not the Leader of May 2, say: "The prejudice against such a celebration is of a mild type"—"it is only a matter of taste"—"no question of principle involved." And does not the Leader further say: "The next Fourth of July comes on Sunday"—"it seems ridiculous to celebrate the 4th on the 5th"—"a little absurd?" "We (the Leader) entirely sympathize with their (the German) sentiment." So it seems, that "to advise the Germans to celebrate the Fourth of July on Sunday"—was merely to advise them, to get clear of a foolish 'prejudice of a mild type," to treat the question as only a matter of taste and not of principle," and to avoid making themselves "ridiculous and a little absurd by celebrating on the 5th instead of Sunday, the 4th!" Now, where was the "malice" or "defamation" in saying that the Leader advised the Germans to do such highly proper and becoming things as these? Surely the Leader must have lost all the little brains it ever had before it could, on such grounds, charge the GAZETTE with "slander," that is, with malicious defamation of the Leader's character! If the Leader did not in so many terms advise the Germans to celebrate the 4th on Sunday, it did so in a more effectutal mode than any mere verbal advice—especially by warning them to avoid making themselves "ridiculous" by celebrating on Monday, the 5th, instead of Sunday, the 4th.

In like manner, in the Leader of June 7, in speaking of the observance of the Fourth of July on Sunday, he says: "Not that there is anything intrinsically wrong in observing the day on the day on which it occurs," and he proceeds to speak with unqualified approval of the observance of the Fourth on Sunday four years ago! And yet it is "malicious defamation" in the GAZETTE to say that the Leader advised such a celebration! We are far from affirming that the Leader ever gets drunk, but certes his wits must have been wool-gathering when he charged the GAZETTE with slandering him—i. e.; with falsehood, malice and defamation! And all because the GAZETTE said the Leader advised the Germans to do what it would be ridiculous in them not to do!

BEAVER FALLS.

Reformed Presbyterian Church Installation — Encounter Between an Officer and a Prisoner—Water, Improvements, &c.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

BEAVER FALLS, June 17, 1875.

INSTALLATION.

Rev. Mr. George was installed pastor of the "Reformed Presbyterian Church" in the hall of the public school house on Tuesday, June 15, at eleven o'clock A. M. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Milligan, of Pittsburgh, assisted by Rev. Mr. Johnson. This young man comes highly recommended from his former congregation.

WATER, IMPROVEMENTS, &C.

The water pipes are being replaced and our citizens are getting water again in the proper channel. This improvement will soon be completed.

The new engine house is "on the way" and will soon hold the new steam engine and the accompanying essentials for the subduing of "the raging element."

Various improvements are going on which give evidence of permanent thrift in our rural city.

A severe encounter took place about noon to-day between officer Crane and Archibald Sterling. Information was made before the Burgess, Mr. Bracken, against Archibald and John Sterling for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, whereupon a warrant was issued and placed in the hands of Mr. Crane for their arrest. Archibald "sobered up" a little and went out on the street defying the officer and threatening his life if he undertook his arrest. On meeting Crane on the street he told him he never would be arrested. Mr. Crane proceeded at once to his arrest. Sterling resisted, striking Crane a heavy blow above one eye, which drew blood freely. He afterward threw stones at the officer, and finally Mr. Crane took him in hand and used him up badly, it being strictly necessary in self defence.

The Burgess, who is Magistrate also, sent him to Beaver to jail on failure to give bail. The other [illegible] attended to as soon as he gets [illegible]

National Board of Trade.

A Reciprocity Treaty with Canada Recommended.

Reform in Railway Transportation Demanded.

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—The National Board of Trade convened at 9 A. M.

Postal Telegraph.

The Committee on Postal Regulations submitted resolutions favoring the establishment by the Government of a postal telegraph, the lines of the present telegraph companies to be paid for by the Government at a just valuation. These resolutions were discussed by Messrs. Eggleston, of Cincinnati; Grosvener, of St. Louis; Heald, of Wilmington; Potter, of Iowa, and others. A motion to indefinitely postpone was carried.

Bills of Lading.

Mr. Bayard, from the Committee on Bills of Lading, reported as follows:

Resolved, That the Executive Council of the National Board of Trade be requested to recommend to the various constituent bodies concerted action in opposition to any bill of lading or railroad receipts whatever containing or assuming to impose conditions other than recognized as in force under the common law as defined by judicial decision; that carriers issuing such bills of lading shall engage not to deliver the merchandise designated except on the surrender of the original bill of lading, or against a duplicate, under proper restriction, in cases of loss or the destruction of the original.

Resolved, further, That the board reaffirms its declaration that all inland carriers should be required to deliver the quantity by weight of bulk grain shipped.

Resolved, further, That the Executive Council be requested to consider and report to the National Board of Trade, at its next meeting, what, if any, legislation, whether State or National, is needed or can be secured to accomplish the purpose of defining the rights and duties of all carriers, and of restricting the terms and conditions of all bills of lading and railroad receipts in accordance with the principles of common law.

The resolutions were agreed to, and a copy ordered to be sent to the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Great Britain.

Reciprocity Treaty.

The consideration of the reciprocity treaty was then taken up. The resolution as recommended by the Board of Trade of Chicago is as follows:

Resolved, That Congress be memorialized and urged to authorize the early appointment by the President of a commission of not less than five merchants and business men familiar with the subject, to confer on the part of the United States with a like commission on the part of the Dominion of Canada on the subject of a treaty for reciprocal trade and commercial relations between the United States and the Dominion of Canada, said joint commission to be authorized on the part of their respective Governments to suggest and recommend the details of provisions for such treaty, subject to the concurrence of the respective Governments of the United States, the Dominion of Canada and of Great Britain.

Messrs. Bushby and Witherill, of Philadelphia, McCrea, of Chicago, and Patterson, of Montreal, spoke upon the subject, when the resolution was adopted.

Centennial Exposition.

The following in relation to the Centennial Exposition was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That as a body we feel an unhesitating conviction that the success of the enterprise is already assured, and commend the furtherance of the work to the pride and patriotism of our fellow-citizens in every section of our country.

Transportation.

The report of the Committee on Transportation was then submitted, as follows:

WHEREAS, Certain defects exist in our system of transportation which are an unnecessary burden upon the commercial interests, and also upon every producer and consumer; and,

WHEREAS, Prominent among these are the construction of railways, mainly by the proceeds of bonds, without full payment of the stock subscribed, the watering of stock on prosperous roads to afford a plausible pretext for imposing upon the public an oppressive tariff of charges, combinations between parallel lines for the same purpose, the division of the legitimate work of railways among various sub-companies, such as fast freight, express, sleeping and palace cars companies, the existence of bridge companies, and other similar devices in which railway managers are interested, and which deplete the revenues which legitimately belong to stockholders, together with other and greater defects which affect the public interests; therefore,

Resolved, That the subject of transportation, having, as it has, a most important bearing upon the welfare of both our internal and foreign commerce, should receive the earnest consideration of legislators, both State and National, to the end that substantial justice may be done, both to capital, which has been honestly invested in our transportation system, and also to the public.

Resolved, That where transportation lines are located exclusively within the limits of a State, they should be regulated by State legislation, but where they are engaged in inter-State commerce, it is the duty of the National Government to prescribe and enforce such regulations as will insure substantive justice to all concerned.

Resolved, That there exists a lack of reliable data upon which to base legislation at this time, and we, therefore, urge upon Congress the establishment of a department or bureau whose special business shall be to collect and disseminate information bearing on our great national commerce, which is now estimated to exceed in amount that of our foreign commerce in the ratio of twelve to one. We also commend to the attention of the various States the importance of collecting reliable information on which to base their local legislation upon this great question.

Resolved, That experience has shown that the attempt to regulate the details of railroad management is inexpedient, but that certain laws of a general character can be enacted which are both practicable and necessary for the protection of public interests. Among these, primarily, in the amendment of the general railway law now existing in different States so as to prohibit the issue of stock which is not paid for, and the increase of capital stock except for definite and specified extension or improvement. The issue of stock to represent surplus earnings which have been collected from the public should be absolutely prohibited. Second—A uniform system for keeping accounts of transportation companies should be established in all States which will enable a correct judgment to be formed of their condition. Third—A uniform classification of the various articles of merchandise should be made in all the States. Fourth—A uniform system of publishing or posting at every shipping point a schedule of rates and fares, embracing all particulars regarding distance, classification, special tariff, &c., and prohibiting an increase of such rates above the published limits without at least thirty days' notice. Fifth—Requiring railway companies to receipt for quantity, and to deliver the same at its destination.

Resolved, That our national water lines should be improved, but that such improvements should be limited to a construction of short lines between great bodies of water.

The resolutions were taken up separately. The first resolution was adopted, the second was tabled, the third was adopted, and the fourth was considered by sections. That section referring to the watering of stock was laid on the table. The section relating to a uniform system of keeping accounts was adopted. The section for the uniform classification of the various articles of merchandise in all States was tabled, as was also the section relating to a uniform system of posting schedules. The section referring to receipts for quantities of merchandise was adopted. The resolution referring to the improvement of national water lines was amended so as to be limited to existing water lines, and then adopted. Adjourned sine die.

THE GALLOWS.

Two Murderers Hanged in Illinois.

TERRE HAUTE, IND., June 18.—Two executions transpired in this vicinity today. At 7:30 P. M. on the evening of August 26th, 1874, the body of a woman was found on the bank of Big Sugar Creek, near Elbridge, Edgar county, Ills., with her throat cut clear across. A search was instituted for the perpetrator, and he was, after many trails had been worked, arrested—Jno. Casey, at Charleston, Ills. The woman had been his wife. He was taken to Paris, the county seat of Edgar, in which the crime had been committed. At the March term of the Criminal Circuit Court the jury, after being out just twenty minutes, returned a verdict of murder in the first degree, fixing the penalty at death. He has been kept in jail ever since the crime. Strenuous efforts have been made to secure a commutation of the sentence, but Governor Beveridge was firm and refused to interfere. To-day being the day set for his hanging, he was executed at 1:37. An immense crowd filled the streets of Paris and surged about the jail yard, but were kept at bay by the militia. At twenty-seven minutes past one he was taken out and ascended the scaffold with a firm step. He addressed the crowd, saying he was dying happy, that he was an innocent man, and that the people were to blame for murdering him. At 1:37 Sheriff Holcomb cut the rope, and the body fell. The neck was dislocated by the fall. He struggled but little, and at 1:56 was cut down, and his body turned over to his attorneys. He made a confession shortly after his arrest, but afterward maintained his innocence, and declared it to the last. He said that he was going to God, who is just.

On the 20th of October last, Joseph Robbins, a watchman employed by the Vandalia Railroad Company at the Kaskaskia bridge in Illinois, was murdered, and Nathan Burgess was convicted of the murder, and to-day suffered the extreme penalty of the law at Effingham, Ill. It was proven that Burgess had committed the crime for a two-fold object—first, to revenge an imagined wrong; second, to secure money which he believed Robbins to be possessed of. Having received a change of venue from Fayette county, Burgess was tried at Effingham, the county seat of an adjoining county, on the nineteenth day of March last, and on the 27th of the same month was sentenced to be hung to-day. Numerous efforts have been made to secure his pardon or a commutation of his sentence, but they proved futile. Burgess, the doomed man, slept soundly from three to six this morning, when he arose, and at seven partook of breakfast. He persisted all day in denying his guilt, although he has heretofore published a confession. He denied that he had written or caused the same to be written, and denounced it as a forgery. He was visited during the day by ministers of the gospel and other friends. He refused to join any sect. The execution took place in an enclosure adjoining the Effingham county jail shortly after 2 P. M., and was witnessed by probably fifty persons. He was led from his cell at 1:43 P. M. He walked up firmly, although not in a spirit of bravado, and took a seat on the platform. A short prayer, the reading of the death warrant, an interval of ten minutes for leave-taking, the pinioning, the white cap, adjustment of the noose, and Nathan Burgess was launched into eternity. His neck broke and pulsation ceased in twelve and one-half minutes. He died game, protesting his innocence to the last and without a sentence of religion.

EARTHQUAKE.

Shocks in Ohio and Indiana—Houses Swayed—Light Damage—A Slight Shock in Chicago.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 18.—A slight shock of earthquake was felt here this morning at 10:45 A. M. Buildings were swayed to a considerable extent, and in some instances windows rattled. The following reports will show the effect at various other points in this State and Ohio: At Anderson, Ind., a very strong shock shook the buildings all over the town. At Jeffersonville, Ind., the shock was felt sensibly. Vincennes, Ind., felt it slightly. It was not felt at Terre Haute, Lafayette, Peru, Logansport, Kokomo, Argos and Richmond, Ind. At Sidney, Ohio, the houses were shaken badly, causing the people to run out. At Anna Obed, six miles north of Sidney, on the D. & M. R. R., it cracked all the houses, knocking the chimneys down and the goods, &c., off the shelves in the stores. No one is reported killed. At De Graff, Ohio, a terrible shock resembling an earthquake, jarring the buildings almost from their foundations, occurred. At Urbana the buildings were swayed so as to be seen in motion.

CINCINNATI, June 18.—Reports from Urbana, Sidney, and other towns in Southwestern Ohio, state that about eleven o'clock this morning there was quite a severe shock of earthquake felt throughout that region. In Sidney a large number of houses were shaken very perceptibly, and their walls cracked. The inhabitants ran out of their houses into the streets. The shelving in a drug store was thrown to the floor, and a large steam boiler was moved nearly a foot from its orginal position.

CHICAGO, June 18.—A slight shock was felt in various parts of the city between the hours of nine and ten this morning, but no damage was done in any quarter.

CINCINNATI, June 18.—The earthquake which disturbed the country north of here this forenoon was felt here in different portions of the city, in a slight degree only.

SAN FRANCISCO.

Particulars of the Loss of the Ship Champlain.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—The ship Champlain, lost last night on North Farrollure, had been off the heads three days, in a dense fog, during which time no observation had been obtained. At the time of striking she had just gone about standing west by south. The captain supposed he was in the vicinity of Point Keys, in which case the course steered would have carried the ship far to the north of the Farrollure group. The ship, under topsails and courses, hauled up. The fog was so thick that the rocks were not seen until she struck, slightly at first near the stern, and then grounded on the rock the whole length, knocking the bottom out. She floated off, but filled rapidly, and sunk in a few moments. The men had scarcely time to get into the boats. Capt. Merrill was the last man to leave the ship. In getting into a boat over the bows he was struck by a martingale and killed. A seaman was lost, a German from Hamburg, known as August. He was crushed before leaving the ship. The crew saved nothing but a few articles of clothing. Shortly after leaving the ship the fog rose, when they sighted the schooner Mendocino, pulled for her, and were taken on board. The ship was loaded with a general cargo, including a lot of coal and pig iron consigned to Geo. Howes & Co

Additional Business Failures in England.

Destructive Conflagration in Dublin.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Additional Business Failures.

LONDON, June 18.—N. Alexander, Son & Co., merchants, have failed; liabilities $1,000,000. This failure was caused by Alexander Collie & Co.'s suspension. Octavius Phillips & Co., colonial brokers, and Medlock, Smallware & Co., of Manchester, have also failed. The liabilities of these last two firms are not known.

The American Rifle Team.

DUBLIN, June 18.—Major Leech has published the All Ireland challenge shield for competition by the riflemen. The Americans will compete, as they have been made honorary members of the shooting club. No matter which of the teams wins the shield, it must be shot for next year at Philadelphia. This shield is competed for annually in Ireland by clubs affiliated with the Irish Rifle Association, four members of each club competing, two of whom must be eligible to shoot in the Irish eight.

DUBLIN, June 18.—A special performance was given to-night in honor of the American team at the Gaiety Theatre. Great crowds filled the streets and cheered the guests. The Lord Mayor and family and many of the most prominent people of Dublin were present.

Destructive Conflagration in Dublin.

DUBLIN, Midnight, June 18.—A fire broke out to-night in the Excise bond stores, which contained 1,800 puncheons of whisky. There was a series of tremendous explosions, and the flames spread rapidly to adjoining buildings. The burning liquor flowed into the streets and ignited the whole neighborhood. From fifteen to twenty buildings in Ardee, Mill and Chamber streets are in flames. Vast crowds surround the burning district. The mob rolled several barrels of whisky out of the stores and are helping themselves to the contents. The police are mustering in force, and troops have been ordered out to preserve order.

Later.—At one o'clock this morning the fire is unabated. The destruction is very great, and the loss is estimated at $500,000.

DUBLIN, June 19.—2 A. M.—At this hour the fire is burning as fiercely as ever. The liquor carries the flames in every direction. Water is of no avail, for it only causes the burning liquor to spread. The Fire Brigade tore up the pavements and attempted to smother the fire in the streets with sand, but they have only succeeded in isolating it. The crowds are collecting the floating whisky in pails, dippers and hats.

ST. LOUIS.

Alleged Illicit Distillers Admitted to Bail—Terrible Rain Storm—Parts of the City Submerged—Great Damage to Property—A $25,000 Fire.

ST. LOUIS, July 18.—Rudolph W. Ulric and Frederick C. Federer, against whom indictments have been found for illegal distilling, were before the United States Court to-day, and the bonds in Ulric's case were fixed at $16,000, and in Frederer's case at $2,500.

Between three and four o'clock this morning the heaviest and most destructive rain storm occurred that has taken place here for many years. The rain fell in perfect torrents for two or three hours, and many parts of the city were inundated, the sewers being incapable of carrying off the quantity of water that fell. There was also a high wind, and the lightning was incessant and almost terrible. The damage in various parts is very heavy, in some places property being wholly destroyed. The stable of George E. Finch, containing three horses and a buggy, valued at $2,000, was struck by lightning and consumed. A row of dwellings on Washington street was so damaged, it is supposed, that they will have to be almost entirely taken down. Near Grand avenue station, on the Missouri Pacific Railroad, the water was so deep that a tenement house was entirely submerged. Further down the railroad the water was twenty feet deep. Around the machine shops of the company the water was very deep and rushed through the shops several inches deep. An extensive line of sheds on the corner of Seventh and Victor streets ignited by the slacking of lime, and was consumed. The basement dry goods house of Crow, McCreery & Co. was flooded and a considerable quantity of goods damaged. Other houses suffered heavily. In the vicinity of Twentieth and Saulsbury streets there is quite a hollow, into which the water from several adjacent streets runs. This neighborhood is made up of one and two story houses, all of which were more or less inundated, and the occupants forced to flee in their night clothes to save their lives. A fifteen inch pipe has been draining this locality since the storm, but this afternoon there was still six or eight feet of water in the hollow. The damage to property there will be several thousand dollars. In the lower part of the city there was great damage, especially in low places. Cellars and basements were flooded and a large amount of provisions and merchandise of various kinds destroyed. On Biddle, and on Allen streets, in the northern part of the city, dwellings and stores suffered heavily by the overflow. Engines and pumps have been actively at work all day pumping water from cellars, basements and the lower floors of dwellings, but in many places little gain has been made on the water. A number of parties threaten to sue the city for damages on account of the meagre capacity of the sewers. It will be many days before hundreds of houses in different parts of the city can be made habitable.

A fire broke out in the laboratory of A. Mellier's drug store, this evening, and damaged the building and stock about $25,000, which are insured in the following companies: New Orleans Insurance Company, $1,000; Kenton, Kentucky, $2,500; Union, Pittsburgh, $2,500; Germania, N. J., $2,500; Boatman's, Pittsburgh, $2,000; Farmers and Drovers of Kentucky, $2,500, Old Dominion, Va., $2,500; Germania, Cincinnati, $2,500; Insurance Company of Pennsylvania, $2,500; Buffalo German, $2,500; Western Assurance Company, $4,000; Clay, Ky., $2,500; Peoples, Memphis, $2,000; Citizens, N. J., $2,500; British America, $4,000; Trader's Chicago, $2,500; Penn, Pa., $2,500; Franklin, Wheeling, $2,500; Home, Columbus, Ohio, $2,500; Hoffman, N. Y., $2,500; Coopers', Dayton, $2,500; French Insurance Company, $5,000; Merchants and Mechanics, $3,000; Mississippi Valley, $2,500; Globe, Chicago, $2,500; Fairfield, Connecticut, $2,500; Empire, Chicago, $2,500; Germania, N. O., $2,500; Home, New Orleans, $500; City of Pittsburgh, $2,500; Ben Franklin, $2,500; Kansas, Leavenworth, $2,500; Lancaster, Pa., $2,500; National of Pennsylvania, $2,500; Lycoming, $2,500; Planters, Memphis, $2,500; American Central, St. Louis, $2,500; West Chester, N. Y., $2,500; Aurora, Cincinnati, $2,500. The stock was valued at $125,000.

BROWNSVILLE, June 18.—W. D. Thomas, a guide to Government troops, accidentally killed himself on Tuesday near Saltillo ranche.

A report that six Mexicans were seen on the road near this place produced much excitement. People are afraid to leave town. Every gun fired now on the Mexican side of the river is followed by a report that some one on this side has been fired at.

Races at Jackson, Mich.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 18, 1875.

The Railroad Compromise.

In regard to the railroad compromise, the Evening Express states upon excellent authority that the contract entered into between Messrs. Scott and King provided that in case either company should desire to amend the same, that ninety days' notice should be given. Mr. Garrett objected, and wanted the time reduced to thirty days on competitive business with the West. Scott and the Pennsylvania directors assented, and furthermore agreed to make the time thirty days for all business. The Baltimore & Ohio people accepted this proposition, and everything is now fixed, and the freight and passenger agents of both the Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio Companies are arranging a new schedule of passenger fares and freight rates.

BETHANY.

Historical Memories of the Village—The Exercises at the College.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

BETHANY, W. Va., June 16, 1875.

Bethany, though a small village, has gained a wide notoriety. It was, for more than half a century, the home of the venerable Thomas Campbell and his great son Alexander. The country roundabout is romantic, and the scenery—especially in this glorious month of June—grand and beautiful. Prof. S. B. Crenshaw, formerly of the Pittsburgh High School, and for several years Professor of Mathematics and Astronomy in Bethany College, has resigned, and goes to Harvard University to study law. Though quite a young man, he has distinguished himself as an efficient and able Professor, and carries with him the best wishes of students and fellow professors. Prof. Power, assistant professor of Greek and Latin, has also resigned, and goes to Washington, D. C., to take charge of the Christian Church in that city. The places of these gentlemen will be filled by competent men before the opening of the next college year. The graduating class each year plants a tree in the college campus. This afternoon at four o'clock the customary exercises consisting of an oration, poem and essay were held in the open air around the tree. The class has had unusual difficulty this year in keeping the tree in its place, for the juniors have uprooted it three times.

Hon. J. S. Black, of York, Pa., arrived at noon to-day, and to-morrow afternoon delivers an eulogy on the occasion of unveiling the bust of the late Alexander Campbell. There are three literary societies connected with Bethany College. The American Literary Institute, the Neotrophian Society, and the Adelphian, the object of the latter being to aid, and train in speaking, young men who are preparing for the ministry. The two former of these societies give an exhibition at the close of each session:—one on the evening of the day before commencement, and the other on he evening of commencement day. At eight o'clock this evening an audience of several hundred people assembled in Alumni Hall to be entertained with music (given by the Bellaire Brass Band), essays and orations, composed by members of the American Literary Institute. After music and prayer a salutatory in English was spoken by E. J. Gantz, of New York, which was followed by an oration on "Self-knowledge," by J. T. Wilson, of Virginia. The most interesting part of the evening's exercises was a debate on the question: "Is compulsory education in harmony with the spirit of our free institutions?" The affirmative argued that the public safety and the preservation of our Republican institutions demand it.

The discussion over, and another oration pronounced by I. J. Spencer, of Ohio. The diplomas were presented. We make special mention of the speech of I. J. Spencer, of Ohio, on the subject: "Master of the situation." His theme was admirably illustrated, and every sentence plainly uttered. After the valedictory by J. M. Tribie, of Virginia, and the benediction, the audience dispersed highly gratified with the exercises of the evening.

"COMMENCEMENT DAY."

Thirty-fourth commencement of Bethany College, W. Va. Commencement day is the great day at colleges. The rain of a day or two since cooled the air, and the morning broke with a cloudless sky. The atmosphere was delightfully balmy and pleasant. At half past eight o'clock in the morning the students assembled in the College Campus to conduct the President to the spacious hall in which the exercises were held. The audience was led in prayer by B. A. Hinsdale, President of Hiram College, Ohio. On the platform were seated the Faculty of the College, the Alumni, the members of the graduating class, and distinguished strangers. Among the latter was Rev. Geo. P. Hays, President of Washington and Jefferson College, Pa. The English salutatory was delivered by W. A. Davidson, of Connellsville, Pa., and the Greek salutatory by E. V. Zollars, of Ohio, who received the first honors of his class. The Latin salutatory was spoken by E. T. Williams, also of Ohio.

Orations were delivered on such subjects as the following: "The Rewards of Labor;" "Man and his Influence," the Negative Man;" "Progress of Science;" "Success;" "The Higher Unity of Nature;" "The Mission of Life;" "National Prosperity," &c., by students from Texas, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Virginia, Nova Scotia, and Ohio. As a whole, the orations of the graduating class were good, well written and well delivered,—considerably above the average of such performances. The "Valedictory" was spoken by I. J. Spencer, of Ohio, which was a beautiful and tender address. This over the President made some remarks in which he stated that during the past year there had been in attendance 152 students from twenty-two States, and four from foreign countries. The average age of the graduating class was 22 years. The course of study is divided into three departments, Classical, Scientific and ministerial. No first honor is conferred, unless the students receiving it marks on an average 94 per cent., the degrees being conferred on the class graduating. Mr. Knowles, of Nova Scotia, came forward, and in behalf of the graduating class presented, as a parting token, to the President of the College, a gold-headed cane. The President received it, and in a brief, but appropriate speech, returned his thanks to the class.

Music and benediction by Dr. Hays.

Thus closed the forenoon exercises.

UNVEILING THE BUST.

The great occasion of Commencement day at Bethany College this year took place this afternoon At the ringing of the College bell at a quarter before two, the people began to assemble in the spacious hall, and in less than half an hour every available seat and inch of room was occupied. On the platform were seated Judges Moore and Hoffman, of the Supreme Court of the State, the Hon. Matthers, Attorney General, and other distinguished men. The platform was full, the aisles were full of people standing, and the vestibule was full. The audience was led in prayer by Rev. L. R. Coleman, of Virginia, after which the President introduced Hon. J. S. Black, of Pa., who proceeded to deliver an address on the presentation of a bust of the late Alex. Campbell to the college. The bust is the work of J. T. Hart, of Florence, Italy, and is in marble of the finest white. It represents Mr. Campbell as he was in his prime. Judge Black gave a brief review of the life, services and character of Mr. Campbell. His pen was extremely prolific; his volumes are numerous, and his power as a speaker and orator was great. Persuasion sat on his lips. His diction was pure, and such was his simplicity and clearness of illustration that prejudice fled before him. He founded Bethany College as one of his many labors for the good of humanity. Judge Black's address was brief, but appropriate. A response was made by Dr. Pendleton, President of the College, in suitable words. The bust is the gift of Mrs. S. H. Campbell, widow of Alex. Campbell, for which she paid one hundred pounds. It stands on a pedestal about five feet high. Prof. C. Loos then gave a history of the way in which the bust was obtained. When Mr. C. was in Kentucky, engaged in his debate with Rev. Mr. Rice, Mr. J. T. Hart, then a young and rising artist, took a cast of Mr. C.'s head, carried it with him to Italy, and from the cast made the bust.

This evening the Neotrophian Society held their annual exhibition in the presence of a large congregation, closing the exercises of Commencement week.

TWENTY NEW STEINWAYS.

Best Choice Ever Offered.

It comprises six different styles of square and square grand Pianos and three different kinds of their famous uprights—among them the wonderful cabinet and upright grand, compared with which all other makes of uprights appear like mere toys. No one with any pretension to musical ear or social standing will touch any but a Steinway when the latter is within reach. Here, then, purchasers have a rare chance to procure the best Piano the world ever saw, and at prices from fifty to one hundred dollars lower than New York rates. Morever, these instruments are said to last twice as long as other makes, and they are warranted by the Messrs. Kleber & Bro. for five years. A call at Kleber's will settle the question of superiority in favor of the Steinway manufacture.

The Sphynx

Has been an unsolved mystery for years, and parties are daily trying to solve another mystery, which is how clothing, equal to custom made, in quality and fit, can be sold by the Boston One Price House, 95 Smithfield street, at such extremely low figures. No use, friends, to worry your brain in endeavoring to solve this problem, but goat once to this low, one priced house, and have the mystery cleared up.

Free Methodists.

John Levington, of the Detroit Conference M. E. Church, will preach for the Free Methodists, Braddock's Field, to-morrow (Sabbath), at 10:30, 3, and 7:30 o'clock P. M. He is the same minister whose Conference voted him insane, and superannuated him for two years for writing a book entitled "The Key to Free Masonry." The last Conference reconsidered the vote of the two preceding Conferences, and voted him sane, and made him effective again. He preached last Sabbath at the Smith Mills grove meeting two sermons of great power, to large and deeply interested congregations. A Universalist, noted for his research and critical turn of mind, was heard to say he is the most profound thinker and logical reasoner he ever heard.

THE Post devotes a leading editorial to the discussion of the absence of the President from the Bunker Hill celebration. The subject is far more important, in its view, than the celebration itself. The President, we happen to know, determined to attend the celebration at Lexington and Concord, the first of the series, and then refuse all invitations to Centennial celebrations until that at Philadelphia comes on

THE French educational bill is claimed as a triumph by both the Liberals and Ultramontanes,—a fact which speaks singularly for the condition of education in France. The Professors at the present, are no doubt, of the Ultramontane order, but the bill is founded in right philosophy all the same. If France continues free, the time will come when education will be broadened, and its opportunities extended. The effect will be to draw others than those of the priesthood into the schools, and so, little by little, the control will change. It is a good law.

THE Ohio Democrats, with Allen and Sam Cary at the head of their ticket, have accepted the Pendletonian view of monetary matters, thus presumably harmonising affairs—the Allen-Thurman crowd getting the substantial benefits and the Pendletonians the words. The most remarkable performance of the Convention consisted in its attempt to swallow its School Fund policy of last year, and to declare that it meant just the other thing. The operations of Hermann, the wizard, or of the celebrated snake that succeeded in swallowing itself, are of small consequence when compared with this of the Democracy of Ohio. It remains to be seen whether the people are to be hoodwinked with this piece of legerdemain. As against their pretensions now are their acts at the last session of the Legislature. That they have a private agreement with the Catholics, is so well understood that their promises are of little account.

THE Merchant and Banker, a careful financial journal, states that the claim that the recent railroad war built up Baltimore trade, at the expense of that of Philadelphia, is an error. It claims that so far is this from being true, that the trade of Philadelphia prospered, in place of languishing. It shows that the shipments of western produce from Philadelphia from January to June showed an increase, each, of corn, beef, cheese, butter, and lard, and a slight decrease in wheat and flour. At Baltimore, during the same period, there was an increase in corn, flour, cheese and butter, and a decrease in wheat, beef and lard. And the contrast is enormously favorable to Philadelphia. Thus the gain in corn at Philadelphia was 1,300,000 bushels, while at Baltimore it was only 17,000 bushels. So the decrease of wheat at Philadelphia was 400,000 bushels, while at Baltimore it was 718,000. The same disparity runs through the entire list,—the largest item being that of beef, which increased at Philadelphia 4,000,000 pounds, while it decreased at Baltimore 26,000 pounds. Nearly an equal disparity appears in lard. Thus the effect of the war was not all on one side.

WE sympathize with those journals that seek to ventilate the ideas of our good friend, Judge Kelly, relative to the finances. The Judge has an attack of doldrums, and so sees things in rather a gloomy light. He thinks the Treasury will run out of money, chiefly because the financial affairs of the Government are not managed in accordance with his peculiar ideas. He has a way of making strong assertions, and at times without duly considering their importance. The Judge, however, is the identical person who declared that affairs were exceptionally lovely at the South, when he was there. The tearful candor with which he unfolded his ideas on that subject produced a profound impression on certain journals. Of course his views were accepted as correct, for did he not accompany them with most doleful expressions of sorrow? Yet when he utters the manifest absurdity that the Treasury is about to be depleted of money, because he does not happen to see just where fresh supplies are to come from, his former admirers pause and hesitate to accept his statements. Allow us to remind them, with the greatest kindness, that he is just as emphatic on the last named subject as he was about affairs at the South.

A TOUCH of the pathetic is made to do service in the interest of that much-abused gentleman, William M. Tweed. When asked to make restitution of, say a million, of the property stolen from the city of New York, he shed tears, and declared he had not the means to do it; that while the principle was just, he had used his property so freely that his means were greatly reduced. The lawyers, it seems, had picked up half a million of it, and the balance had gone he knew not where. There is, probably, truth in this. Easy come, easy go,—is an old proverb, which seems to have been illustrated in Tweed's case. He received the spoils from the various jobs so easily that he seems to have valued what he received but lightly. Yet, in his case, two facts are evident,—that the dignity of the law must be maintained; and, on the other hand, that the pursuit against him may degenerate into persecution. So long as he was the head of the Ring, gloating in power and plunder, it was proper to follow him. Even now, the principle of restitution should be enforced to every reasonable extent, but when a properly ascertained limit is reached, the prosecution against him should stop. There is a limit to all things, and unless there would be a sympathy gotten up for him, care should be taken not to go farther than justice and humanity require.

THE State Prohibition Convention, in the selection of R. Audley Brown for Governor, and Elijah F. Pennypacker for Treasurer, has certainly made a move that has in it the promise of much vigor in the coming contest in this State. Just what the ultimate merit of the movement may be, we do not undertake to say. It has in it more of wisdom and political sagacity than that party has been accustomed to show. Dr. Brown is a gentleman whose past record is favorably spoken of, and Mr. Pennypacker is a solid farmer, was originally an Abolitionist, and graduated into the Republican party. Like many others who have gone through the same course of training, he has become conscientiously interested in the temperance movement, and seeks its success by independent measures. As we understand it this separate movement is of the nature of a coercive process. That is, the temperance people do not expect to poll more than from 10,000 to 20,000 votes. These, it is claimed, will serve to defeat one of the regular parties,—probably the Republican,—and thus teach them a lesson, and ultimately compel recognition. If the Democracy of this State should follow the lead of their friends in Ohio, they will distinctly commit themselves to the liquor interests. In such an event, the defeat of the Republican party will result in putting power in the hands of the declared antagonists of the temperance cause. Just how this will contribute to the advantage of temperance, we are at a loss to know. We are aware of the argument, occasionally used, that their misuse of power will serve to disgust the people, and so create temperance votes. This, however, is premised on the idea that they will act so foolishly as to misuse power. They may, but this does not certainly follow. We respect the motives, and accredit as worthy the candidates, but cannot think that the movement is wise.

THE North American, of Philadelphia, makes a vigorous attack on the Democratic party, in response to the slur that the Republicans have only one virtue,—that of having managed the finances of the State well, and that the Democratic party is to be the "reformer" of our politics. It says that "when the Republican party came into existence it found the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth so rigidly partisan that none but hide-bound proslavery and State-rights Democrats were allowed to obtain seats on that bench. The most eminent lawyer in Pennsylvania, William M. Meredith, who had been Secretary of the Treasury, and was afterward Attorney General of the State and President of the Constitutional Convention, was refused a seat on that bench for no other reason than because he was a Whig, a national man and opposed to slavery." Also that "during the entire domination of the Democrats in Pennsylvania the Canal Board was a nest of the foulest, most wide-spread, reckless and disgraceful corruption, both in the waste and embezzlement of the public funds, and in the astounding frauds in the elections, that any free State ever was a victim to. It was this Board that saddled the State with a debt of forty-two millions of dollars at a time when the population was not more than half what it is now." Still further: "Under the old Democratic regime Pennsylvania suffered all the evils of slavery without any of its chance of profit." As against this, it urges several reforms accomplished by the Republicans, — the breaking up of the Canal Ring, the enactment of a free railroad law, and other matters. "But the crowning glory of the Republican regime was the complete extirpation of special legislation. Every Whig Governor and every Republican Governor had vehemently denounced this monstrous evil. A special amendment to the Constitution, providing for general laws on various subjects, was adopted under Republican auspices, and finally a Republican Legislature passed and a Republican Governor approved an act calling a Constitutional Convention, which has made a complete and wonderful reformation of the Constitution, so that special legislation is cut up root and branch. The new Constitution was formed by Republicans, and sustained by the party at the polls.

THE LONDON FAILURES.

A month ago we stated that a series of failures must inevitably follow those which had then occurred, until something equivalent to a panic would occur in England, and possibly else where. This is now realized, although the worst has not yet come. Two facts generally account for the failures that are occurring. The credit system is as largely in vogue in England as here; and the decline in prices has wiped out small capitalists. Thus the great joint stock banks of London have from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 to loan, and the necessity that is upon them to earn dividends leads, occasionally, to a lack of caution in negotiating loans. Thus there were many firms which, with say $100,000 capital, borrow $200,000 more, and go forward prosperously, so long as times are favorable. But with a change of times, a time comes which tests the entire establishment, and the strain breaks it. In the decline in prices during the past few years, English manufacturers have suffered terribly. In March, 1873, Scotch pig iron sold for 118 shillings per ton, and its present price is between 60 and 70 shillings. In June, 1872, the price of middling Orleans cotton at Liverpool was 11⅞ pence per pound; in June, 1873, 9 pence; in June, 1874, 8⅝ pence, and its price yesterday was 7⅝ pence, or to be quite exact, 7 11-17 pence. As a million bales is usually held in stock, or is on its way to England, it follows that this loss has also fallen on the manufacturers. So we have clear reasons why these failures are occurring.

We have only to recur to the date when these declines in values began, to see that they followed, and were caused by the panic in this country. Nor is it at all difficult to trace the relationship between the panic here, and the depression in prices, and final failures there. The admittedly first cause of our panic, was the Northern Pacific Railroad. That is, Jay Cooke had put out so much of his own money on that road, that he could not borrow to keep afloat, and so failed, and hence the panic. The immediate result of the panic was to stop railroad building, and even to limit repairs. Hence the demand for railroad and other iron fell off very largely,—reducing it below the supply the mills were able to produce. Thus the price fell,—here and necessarily in England,—and finally after struggling, the mills there begin to succumb. Our panic also extended to all branches of manufacture,—and thus the decline in cotton, and the losses by cotton manufacturing firms. Out of these plainly stated facts come several important reflections that are worthy of attention.

1. That there is intimate sympathy between the prosperity of this country and that of England. To some extent this fact was realized when our panic began,—considerable amounts in gold being sent over to stop the panic, at its inception. However largely it may be the policy of England to draw on this country in times of prosperity, it is not her policy to bankrupt us; for in so doing she loses trade and bankrupts herself.

2. Panics are not occasioned by the kind of money a nation may use within itself, but are occasioned by other causes. When our panic came, the howl was kept up that it was because of a lack of specie,—money,—some fixed and regular standard of value. England has the identical monetary system which is declared to be a panacea against panics, and yet she is passing through the same process of failures that we did in 1873. Can it be made clearer that the cause assigned has nothing whatever to do with the result reached?

3. The renewal of prosperity,—which means the restoration of business confidence is essential, if we would end these panics. In this country, this restoration depends, we fully believe, on two great causes. We need an assured and ample supply of well-secured currency, such as the Government legal tenders, as a basis for enlarged business enterprise; and measures need to be devised to renew work upon great projects, such as the continental lines of railway, that have been partially built.

4. The strength of our iron manufacturers, in contrast with those of England, is also evident. The same strain that has been on the English manufacturers, these two years, has been felt here. We have had a decline in values and small sales of iron. Our workmen have stiffly held to good rates for working iron. Every disadvantage known to England, has been felt in this country. Yet our manufacturers have generally been able to stand up, and conduct their business, without failures. Hitherto, it has been thought that we could not stand against the English manufacturers; yet the revelation now comes that our manufacturers are financially stronger than they. We do not need to urge, that but for a protective tariff, this would not be.

The series of failures, now occurring in England, and which are so distinctly traceable to American influence, should teach us a lesson of self dependence. We are in debt to Europe, and the interest on this debt and the principal ultimately must be paid in gold. But so far as the development of this great country is concerned, we have no need to consult the outside world as to the measures to be employed. But we need to employ effort, and wield our power. It is just here the Government should aid. It is, indeed, the province of Government to assist the people when emergencies are upon them. This is the case in this country at present. And while the failures in England may, indirectly, benefit trade in this country, we realize that it will only be by the proper measures being taken to this end.

WHEN the grasshoppers get on the railroad tracks out West, the engineers do not go along in front and brush them off, but cruelly run over, mash and deprive them of life. By this process the tracks get oily, the wheels lose their grip, and the train is detained. Thus is justice avenged, though Bergh resides three thousand miles away.

THE statement that salt sprinkled on garden vegetables will keep grasshoppers away turns out to be something like that notion that saltpetre would drive away cockroaches. DOYLESTOWN, Bucks county, is the scene of a religious sensation just now. The priest of St. Mary's Catholic church decided to raise the price of pews, and some of the members of the church refused to comply with his demands, doubtless thinking that a reduction in price, not an advance, was the proper thing during these hard times. But the priest was not to be put off with a denial. And the better to enforce his demands, and impress his parishioners with the idea that he meant business, he caused the pews of those who resisted the increase to be nailed up. Sunday came and brought the development of the priest's scheme. But it didn't work worth a cent. For some of the excluded members deliberately proceeded to tear open their pews, while others clambered over the top, and enjoyed the service in spite of the attempt to keep them out. The affair created intense excitement in the congregation.

IS SHE A WIDOW!

A Remarkable Suit in San Francisco.

A remarkable suit is in progress in a San Francisco Court. In November, 1872, James C. King shot and killed Arthur F. O'Neill, in Brooklyn, New York. King was found guilty of murder in the second degree, and was sentenced to the Penitentiary for life. King had met a wealthy merchant, named Stott, in San Francisco, and he had married the latter's daughter. The union for some reason turned out to be most unhappy. Her father left all his estates by will to Mrs. King on her becoming a widow, and the question now presented to a San Francisco tribunal is, whether she is entitled, under the will, to come into possession of the property. Though King is now confined in the State prison at Sing Sing, New York, Mrs. King contends that she is a widow fully within the meaning of the terms of her father's will, and therefore entitled to come into the property left by him at the time of his decease. The laws of New York, as represented to the California Judges, provide that "a person sentenced to imprisonment for life shall be deemed civilly dead," and that "no pardon granted any person who shall be deemed to restore such person to the rights of any previous marriage." The question is, though the wife be divorced and King alive in the flesh, and though civilly dead according to the laws of New York, is Mrs. King a widow in California? Upon the determination of that point depends the acquisition and enjoyment of a large properry left by a father to a daughter upon the event of her becoming a widow.

Thaddeus Stevens' Estate.

The auditors appointed to make distribution under the will of the late Thaddeus Stevens, met at Lancaster last Tuesday evening, when Mrs. Smith, housekeeper of Mr. Stevens, made a claim for pay for services rendered him during the last six years of his life at the rate of $200 per month, or in the aggregate $14,400, in addition to the legacy of $5,000 granted by the testator. Mrs. Smith alleges no special contract to this effect, but seeks to recover on a quantum meruit. Against her claim it is contended that the legacy of $5,000 to her was in compensation for all services rendered and in lieu of any claim which she may have had therefor; and that in accepting this legacy she waived all such claims. It will also be maintained that if she has any claim whatever against the estate it must be limited to the time between the execution of Mr. Stevens' will and his death, a period of little more than a year. In support of her claim Mrs. Smith testified in detail to the nature of her services to the deceased, and before concluding her testimony the audit adjourned to hold another meeting at an early date. According to the account filed by Mr. Roberts, the balance in his hands for distribution is $11,617.06; balance in Mr. Dickey's hands, $4,722.82; total; $16,339.88 for distribution. The Caledonia property has not yet been sold. Among the items in these accounts for which the accountants claim credit is the payment of a claim of $586 to Mrs. Smith, and $3,650 paid for the tomb erected in Shreiner's Cemetery over the grave of Mr. Stevens.

THE SMALL-POX.

Horrible Adventure in New York.

A New York dispatch to the Boston Journal says:—Small-pox is prevalent in the German districts on the east side of the city, and the Health officer meets with much opposition in removing patients to the Public Pest Hospital. Yesterday a case was reported at No. 167 Stanton street, and a doctor and assistant were sent in an ambulance. They mounted the narrow stairways to the top floor and knocked at the door, which was immediately opened by a woman. When she saw who were her visitors she shrieked, and endeavored to push the door to again, but the men kept it open with difficulty. "You shan't take my husband," the woman said, doggedly. "He's alone here with me, and at the top of the house." "It makes no difference," said the doctor, "and I can't stay to multiply words all night. This is a tenement house, and we don't allow any cases to remain in them." Without further talk the doctor brushed past the woman, followed by the ambulance man, but the woman hung to their coats and begged of them to desist. In a further room a man, Otto Christy, lay on a bed, almost unconscious. The doctor and his assistant approached the bed, when the woman rushed forward, and seizing them both, pulled them off, and the two men were obliged to have a hand-to-hand fight to obtain possession of her husband's body. While the doctor held her around the body and pinioned her arms to her sides, the other rapidly hoisted the dying man on his shoulders, spite of the agonizing groans of the moribund. The thought that the husband was really leaving her gave her renewed strength, and she sprang once more away from the doctor and seized him, who rolled from the assistant's shoulders to the ground. They then began dragging the body along the floor to the staircase, the wife clinging to it and shrieking dismally. In the evening the man died, and the excitement among the Germans is intense. Friends of small-pox patients threaten to mob small-pox officers, and the police have been called on to protect them.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
SATURDAY, June 19, 1875. }

There was a moderate degree of activity yesterday at the banks, and in business circles. It does not, however, represent any extraordinary fact, prosperous or stagnant times being subject to days of dullness or of activity. This of yesterday was, therefore, not remarkable. The banks are arranging for their semi-annual dividend, and are, consequently, busy in that particular department. Otherwise, there is nothing specially new, either as to policy or prospects. In general business there are spasms of activity, but the general tendency is toward the summer dullness. Real estate continues depressed in price, but several large auction sales are on the tapis in the rural wards.

The London failures excite considerable comment among our manufacturers, and opinions are divided as to its effect on American iron business.

The national banks throughout the country are notified by Mr. Treasurer Spinner not to forward notes for redemption to reach Washington between June 25 and July 1. Within those days he will be engaged in counting the moneys in the Treasury of every description for transfer to his successor, Mr. New, on the 30th of June.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean replies to Judge Kelly's twaddle about national bankruptcy as follows: The nation is really rich in materials, labor, and the necessary money capital to inaugurate one or more great works of national improvement which would revive trade, increase the revenue, furnish employment for the hundreds of thousands that are now out of work, and reverse the tide of emigration which is now setting from our shores back to Europe. To do all this would not be necessary to increase the greenback currency one dollar. Banking is now free, and when trade and industry revive and rates of interest rise—as they would—the prices of bonds would decline to where the banks could afford to buy them, and they would then issue as much currency as could be kept afloat. The contraction of national bank currency at the present time is the result of nothing but the extreme high prices of bonds, and these high prices are only the effect of the plethora of money seeking some kind of investment. Under the present law the greenbacks can not be contracted below $300,000,000, but if trade were active and rates of interest where they were three years ago, and prices of bonds correspondingly low, the national bank currency would probably increase to $500,000,000, or possibly more. It is not the want of currency, as Judge Kelley imagines, that has anything to do with the present stagnation. It is simply that capital everywhere is demoralized and inert. If this Government would now inaugurate public improvements on a large scale, it would not only revive industry and trade in this country, but would cause both immigrants and specie to come to us from Europe.

NEW YORK, June 18, 1875.

Money was a drug at 1½a3; prime mercantile paper 3½a5. Sterling was weak for sixty days at 487, and sight strong at 490a490½. The customs receipts were $216,000. The imports of dry goods for the week were $894,000. Gold was dull at 117½. The carrying rate was 1 per cent., and borrowing flat to 2 per cent., and 1-64a1-32 per diem. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $121,000. The clearings were $45,000,000. The estimated shipments of specie to-morrow are $2,500,000. Governments are strong. Railroad mortgages are quiet and firm. State bonds are quiet.

The stock market opened weak at a decline of ¼ to ⅝ per cent. as compared with the closing quotations yesterday. Lake Shore showed the greatest weakness, and declined from 61¼ to 59 before the first board on heavy sales of long stock. A recovery of ⅛ to 1¼ per cent. took place after the first call, but the improvement was not fully maintained, and at the second call Erie dropped to 14⅞, Lake Shore to 59½, and Western Union to 75⅛, these stocks having been particularly weak. The weakness in Erie was caused by rumors of foreclosure suits by the mortgage bondholders. At the close the market was firmer, with a recovery of ¼ to 1⅜ per cent. The largest business was in Lake Shore, which rose from 59 to 60⅜, but dropped off to 59⅞a60 in final business on some large sales, said to be for closing a large account and partly for one large holder. Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph rose from 22½ to 23. Western Union was firm and rallied from 75⅜ to 75½. C. C. & I. C. rose from 3 to 3⅞, and Ohios from 22⅞ to 23. St. Paul and Northwest were firm, as were also other western shares. Investment shares are firm at full prices.

The sales at the Stock Exchange aggregated 302,000 shares, of which 28,000 were Pacific Mail, 41,000 Western Union, 8,000 Northwest, 42,000 Erie, 155,000 Lake Shore, and 8,000 Union Pacific.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

DAILY REPORT OF PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
FRIDAY, June 18, 1875. }

General business continues dull, unusually so for this season of the year; our merchants and manufacturers are nearly all complaining, not only of a falling off in trade, but that there is little or no margin for profit. It is hoped, however, that there will soon be a change for the better, and there is some consolation in the fact that business is settling down upon a much more permanent and legitimate basis.

APPLES—Selling, in a jobbing way, at $3@4 ₱ bbl, as to quality and condition.

APPLE BUTTER—50@55c ₱ gallon.

BEANS—The market continues quiet and unchanged; quotable at $1,80@1,85 for mediums, and $1,90@2 for navies.

BUTTER—Dealers all agree in reporting a dull market, and as they are anxious to realize, prices are weak, but, as compared with yesterday, without quotable change: prime to choice solid packed, 18@20; choice roll, 20@22.

CHEESE—The arrivals continue liberal, and with the supply accumulating, prices are weak and drooping; we now quote prime Ohio Factory at 10½@11c.

DRIED FRUIT—Apples are quotable at 7@7½ for fair and 8@8½ for prime to choice. Peaches, (halves) 10@10½.

EGGS—The receipts, although not large, are liberal for this season of the year, but the market is steady at 20.

FLOUR—Spring wheat flours are firmer, in sympathy with the recent advance in Spring wheat; winters quiet and unchanged. We continue to quote, in a jobbing way, as follows: Spring wheat flours, $5.75@6@6.25, the outside figure for choice Minnesota (baker) flour; winter, $6,25@6.50 for red and $6,75@7 for amber and white. Rye flour, $6@6.25.

GROCERIES—Trade continues very quiet and the markets are devoid of a single new feature deserving of special notice. The demand is light, restricted almost entirely to supplying immediate necessities, while prices remain unchanged.

GRAIN—The grain markets continue very dull, more so than during any time this year, but it is hoped and expected that there will soon be a change for the better. The receipts of Wheat continue very meagre, but there does not appear to be much call for it; we continue to quote nominally at $1,25@1,30 for Penna. and Ohio red and 3@5c additional for amber and white. The Oat market continues dull, but unchanged; sales on A. V. R. R. track at 68c for white, equal to 69 free in elevator; we continue to quote at 67@68c for mixed and 69@70c for white. Ear Corn continues dull but unchanged; 75@77, according to quality—sale of one car at 76. Shelled is dull and neglected, and may be quoted nominally at 77@79c, free in elevator. Rye is quiet at $1.15.

HAY—The market for baled is dull and easier, notwithstanding the receipts continue light; we now quote at $22 to $23 per ton, for good to prime timothy. Loose, from country wagons, $25@28.

POTATOES—In light stock and prices are still going upward; sales of Peach Blows, on track, at 95@$1, and from store at $1,05@1,10.

PROVISIONS—Our latest advices from all quarters continue of a very bearish character; it was thought a few days ago that the market for the hog products had touched bottom, and a reaction set in, but subsequent events have demonstrated that these expectations were not well founded. Our Chicago report of Thursday quoted Lard dull at 13 on spot and 12,95 seller July, and Mess Pork closed at $18,06@18,07.

PIG IRON.

Notwithstanding there is considerable complaint being made by consumers in regard to the unremunerative condition of the market for the product, Raw Irons continue fairly active, with more buyers than sellers at current rates, and while there has been no advance, the general tone of the market appears to be growing stronger. The mills generally would contract freely for future delivery, say July, August and September, at $24, 4 mos, but there are very few, if any, sellers at the rate in question. Producers appear to be confident of obtaining an advance of at least one dollar ₱ ton within a very few weeks, and the indications just now are in their favor, as the production is light—stocks are being gradually reduced, and the consumption (here in Pittsburgh) is as large as ever it was. It is said that the Cambria Iron Co. bought 5,000 tons of bessemer iron in the Valleys within the past few weeks, and some other large sales at the furnaces have been made recently. Following sales were reported:

ANTHRACITE.

MANUFACTURED IRON.

The reports in regard to the condition, present as well as prospective, of the market for finished irons are conflicting; some manufacturers are hopeful, while others, again, are despondent. There appears to be no complaint so far as regards orders; on the contrary, we are informed by some of our manufacturers that they could contract for their entire production during the next three months if they were willing to do so, at current rates. The great source of complaint is in prices, which, it is said, are down to a point that afford no margin for profit—here is where the trouble is; there is no difficulty in effecting sales, but, in view of the probability of raw irons advancing, the mills very generally are refusing to contract for future delivery at current rates.

NAILS.

Some manufacturers report that orders have commenced to slack off, and that stocks are accumulating in consequence, while others continue to report a demand for all they can make; complaints are still very common in regard to prices, which it is said yield the manufacturer no margin for profit, but there appears to be no help for it. We continue to quote at $3, 60 days, with the usual discount of 2 ₱ cent. for cash.

SCRAP IRON.

The Scrap trade continues very quiet, and dealers do not look for any improvement until next month; prices unchanged. We continue to quote No. 1 wrought at $31 to $33, 4 months, delivered at mills.

BRITISH IRON MARKET.

A cable dispatch to the Iron Age, under date of the 16th, says:—Scotch Pig—Since our last report the market has been depressed, but has recovered a little. The following are makers' quotations:

Gartsherrie No. 1	65s 6d
Coltness No. 1	67s
Glengarnock No. 1	67s 6d
Eglinton No. 1	60s

Manufactured Iron.—The situation is unchanged. Rails.—The demand has improved a trifle over last week. Prices are steady and unchanged.

NEW YORK.

American Pig.—Little, if anything, new can be written in regard to the position of American Iron. The demand continues very limited, and when buyers are found they refuse to negotiate unless the goods are offered on extraordinarily easy terms. The furnaces generally are still in blast, so that stocks are continually accumulating, though there appears to be more disposition on the part of many companies to blow out, in part, at least, while some talk of ceasing production entirely. A few sales of small lots have been reported, but they are unimportant and not worth mentioning. We quote Foundry No. 1 at $27@28; No. 2 Foundry, $25@26, and Gray Forge, $23@25, but these must be considered as merely nominal.—Iron Age.

PHILADELPHIA.

There is little or nothing of novelty in the situation of the market to report. A slightly better feeling prevails, owing to the prospect of an early settlement of the railroad war, and the apparent ending of the coal strike by exhaustion of the miners, who are daily seeking conference with the operators. It is believed both troubles will be soon settled, and that this will tend to quiet the disturbed condition of trade. In Pig Iron there is not much doing outside of Forge Pig and Pipe Irons, both of which are in better request. Bars are dull of sale and prices without change, but rails are said to be in better request, with some large contracts under negotiation. Those who want rails, however, invariably couple their inquiries with offers of bonds in some way, which are unavailable to makers. Old Rails are without change and in small sale. The Pipe trade seems to be the principal business offering, and most of the sales of moment have been for this purpose. One contract just closed included some ten miles of Pipe for Norwalk, Conn., and inquiries are in the market for large amounts from both Eastern and Western cities. Scrap continues in fair request, but buyers are more strict as to selections than a fornight since. Prices are fairly maintained for all grades, and may be quoted as follows, viz: Pig Iron.—No. 1 Foundry, $27@28; No. 2, $25; Gray Forge, $24@25. Manufactured Irons.—Bars—2.6@2.8c ₱ ℔.

The English Iron Failures.

The London Times, which, in its money article of June 1, thought the failures of the Aberdare and Plymouth iron-companies would be followed by results like those of the failure of Overend, Gurney & Co. in 1866, believes on the 2d inst. that there is not much danger after all. It says:

The city has been quiet to-day, and, judging from appearances, which are sometimes deceptive, the rumors which lasted for some ten days may, and probably have been, the salvation of many who set vigorously to work curtailing their liabilities, selling their securities, calling in their money, and increasing their cash balances, as we shall see again by the next bank return. Everything depends upon the circumstances in which the market found itself to-day in this respect after the revelations of yesterday, and those who wisely acted upon the warning they by good luck chanced to get will, perhaps, think it better banking in future to have less money at call and more in the till, as it is not often that the negotiations for carrying on a concern which has been bankrupt for 15 years are so protracted as those which ended abortively yesterday.

The Daily News put the stoppages in their proper place as part only of these that have been occurring throughout the year, and they "throw light upon the great weakness in the iron trade, which has been the subject of a great adverse fluctuation during the last two years. So far, few incidents are more natural or probable at a time like this. If the prosperity of the iron trade in 1871 and 1872 was beyond precedent the subsequent fall in price, and consequent loss to all holders of iron have been immense."

The Railroad Compromise.

None of the details of the agreement between the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Baltimore & Ohio have been authoritatively made public, and a suspicion seems to be creeping into the New York mind that a compromise may not be to its advantage. Commodore Vanderbilt and the New York Central being left out gives color to the rumor that the two roads in question have united in opposition to the interests of New York, and that there is a conspiracy of Southern interests to absorb the trade of the metropolis. The Philadelphia Ledger, after remarking that Mr. Garrett and Mr. Scott really were very little at variance during the struggle, says that "The action of the conference when ratified will not only greatly improve the credit of the two companies immediately interested, but will restore to confidence railway property all over the country. The agreement, if approved as it now stands, is so guarded as to insure lasting peace, it being conditioned for ten years, with such umpirage as seems to make it perpetual."—Chicago Tribune.

PITTSBURGH PETROLMEU MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
FRIDAY, June 18, 1875. }

Business in oil circles continues very quiet, and the market is in a very unsettled and unsatisfactory condition. Crude for immediate shipment was quoted at $1,32½@1,35. Refined continues very much depressed: Baltimore delivery quoted at 12¼ for June and 12⅜ for 15th to 25th of July. It was reported that Cleveland was offering to sell 15th to July, deliverable in New York, at 12⅜.

There is a growing dissatisfaction here with the workings of the Combination, and the indications are that unless its operations are changed in some particulars, that quite a number of Pittsburgh refiners will withdraw from it. It is alleged that it is being manipulated in the interest of Cleveland and Eastern refiners at the expense of Pittsburgh.

The Barrel trade continues very dull, countries nominal at $1,10@1,15; city make, $1,30@1,32½.

GEO. H. ROHE,
Sergeant Signal Service, U. S. A.

THE river rose about 3 inches on Thursday night, caused by the heavy rains on Thursday evening, but it fell almost as fast as it rose, the marks last evening indicating three feet. The prospects continue favorable for more rain, and coalmen have not yet given up all hopes of a June rise.

THE Simpson Horner passed Cincinnati en route to Pittsburgh yesterday.

THE veteran Captain Simpson Horner was in Louisville on Thursday.

THE Ed. Hobbs left Wheeling for St. Louis, on Thursday, with a cargo of nails.

THERE was a terrible rain and wind storm on Wednesday night, which laid all the wheat in the vicinity of Cairo flat.

CAPT. J. STUT NEAL has received the appointment of Building Superintendent of the new insane asylum at Indianapolis.

THE Mallie Ragon from Wheeling, arrived and departed. It is understood that she will lay up at Wheeling and undergo repairs.

A JUNE 17th telegram from Ironton says the Granite State arrived at 2 P. M., and laid up to repair. The Salt Valley left at 6:30 A. M. for Pittsburgh.

THE rival Cincinnati and Evansville packets, Kittie Hegler and Fawn, took Evansville and Cairo freight at Cincinnati, Wednesday, at 5 and 10c a hundred.

THE triangular fight between the Lower Ohio trade packets at Louisville progresses fiercely. They are taking passengers at $1 and $2, and freights at 5 cents, to Evansville.

THE Houston Coombs sunk a barge containing 1,560 bags of corn and about 50 tons of miscellaneous freight at Spar Creek, below Rochester, in Green River, at 10:30 Tuesday night. The corn was shipped from Evansville, and is insured.

CHARLES MORGAN, of the Morgan line steamers, has ordered a five hundred dollar silver water service for the steamer Charles Morgan, and has named a new iron vessel after Albert Stein, the commander of the steamer Charles Morgan.

THE Fannie Tatum departed for St. Louis last evening, with all she could take on boat and barges. She had to refuse freight all day. She was drawing three feet, and her barge about the same. Joseph Alexander and George Littleton are her pilots.

A MARIETTA (Ohio) paper says: Pittsburgh people are moving to change the dam at the head of the island to this side. Our citizens are aroused to the injustice, and will meet them half way. Col. Merrill has only to extend the reef in front of the city a proper distance to overcome difficulties.

THE Cherokee left New Orleans on Thursday evening for Cincinnati, with thirty cabin and twenty deck passengers, and 300 tons of iron, 75 bales of rags, 1,000 beer kegs, 25 casks soda ash, 7,000 fire bricks, 700 bundles ties, 40 sacks coffee, 250 barrels oil, 30 barrels rice, and 40 tons of miscellaneous freight.

A LOUISVILLE dispatch of 16th says:—The Fred. Wilson came down with a tow of coal, and returned to Madison to go on the ways. The Simpson Horner is cleaning her boilers, and takes 20 barges and boats to Pittsburgh. The Tom Means and tow departed for St. Louis this evening. The Chas. Morgan passed up at 6 A. M.

THE Sioux City Journal, of the 12th instant, gives the following river news:—The late rains have caused a slight rise in the river. The steamer Benton which reached Yankton on Thursday afternoon, had a good freight and passenger list. She is loaded for another Benton trip, and expects to clear this evening. The Nellie Peck, which was the first boat to reach Fort Benton this season and the first to return, landed at our levee about 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon. She had a large freight and passenger list. It is claimed by Doc. Terry, clerk of the Nellie, that she had the best up and down trip that has been carried by any steamer during the past five years. She landed at Benton with nearly 400 tons of freight and 100 passengers. On her return voyage she had 1,800 bales of robes and 3,500 dry hides and a large passenger list. The Nellie reached Fort Benton eight hours ahead of the steamer Benton and two days in advance of the Carroll.

A ST. LOUIS special to the Cincinnati Commercial under date of Wednesday says:—Very heavy showers fell here last night and this forenoon, and more rain is now threatening. The rains along the Illinois and Upper Mississippi have been the heaviest known for years. The river rose three feet at Quincy yesterday, and all the small streams are putting out vast volumes of water. The Illinois is rising from Labelle down. Here the river is rising briskly. The City of Quincy left for New Orleans, flat down, leaving something for the Belle of Shreveport, which follows on Saturday. The J. H. Johnson was caught in a storm above Quincy, yesterday, and for a time she was in great danger of being wrecked. She had on board at the time 400 picnicers, which she landed at Quincy all O. K. The Utah has 400 tons of ore for Portsmouth, 200 tons of fire clay for Covington, and 100 tons of miscellaneous freight for different points.

FRIDAY'S Cincinnati Commercial says:—The John L. Rhoads, from Pittsburgh, departs for St. Louis this evening. Captains J. Alex. Frazier and Joseph H. Williams pilot her......The Ohio river, between Pittsburgh and Marietta, has several serious obstructions, all in the channel, which the authorities should immediately remove. A bowlder-boat and keel-boat are sunk at Raccoon, and a sunken coal-boat at the foot of Brown's Island, a keel-boat sunk immediately below Steubenville bridge, and a large stump at the head of Fish Creek Island. ......Captain Frank Y. Batchelor returned to Cincinnati from Pittsburgh, and did not go to Boston. He will wait until the Bunker Hill festivities have cooled down. Captain Batchelor has wisely concluded to retire from the river, after over thirty years' experience, and may engage in the hotel business. Captain Batchelor can run a hotel successfully, as well as a steamboat......The wharfage receipts during the week ending yesterday amounted to $192.85. The Louisville and Henderson packet wharfage at Evansville have been reduced 75 cents.

It contains a complete resume of local and general news, telegraphic intelligence from every part of the world, commercial, financial, oil and cattle market reports, and editorials on all the leading topics of the day; altogether, thirty-six columns of choice reading matter, embracing subjects of interest to the lawyer, the doctor, the merchant, the mechanic, the farmer, and the family. The reputation of the GAZETTE is so thoroughly established, especially in the correctness of its commercial and market reports, that it has gained a circulation

The Largest in Western Pennsylvania.

It is, at the same time, the cheapest in the list of weeklies of its grade. The subscription and club rates are as follows:

TERMS—Single copy, $1.75; clubs of five, $1.50; clubs of ten, 1.40; this includes postage paid by the publishers. A copy of the WEEKLY GAZETTE will be sent free to the party who acts as agent, for every ten numbers paid for.

Its especial merits are:

Its Market Reports are prepared especially and exclusively for this journal, and are the only reliable ones published in Pittsburgh.

It is especially adapted for the Farmer, Mechanic, Merchant and general Family use.

The large circulation of the GAZETTE is attributable to the recognition of its merits, and not to the efforts of canvassers who make a business of securing names on a percentage. Postmasters at many points have acted for us, and these alone are our accredited agents. All desirous of receiving the best Weekly published in Pittsburgh should subcribe at once.

HOME NEWS.

Mercantile Library.

The rooms of the Library Association will be closed on Wednesday, June 23d, for one week, for renovation and examination.

Base Ball.

At three o'clock this afternoon there will be played a match game of base ball at the Union Park, Allegheny, by nines selected from the employes of Porter, Donaldson & Co. and J. D. Bernd & Co. The captains are Mr. Fred. Dean, of the the P. D. & Co. B. B. Club, Mr. H. Rose, of the S. D. B. & Co. B. B. Club. An enjoyable occasion is expected on account of the inexperience of the players.

Magnificent Piano at a Bargain

We have just received a splendid Chickering square grand piano, which is somewhat damaged in the furniture, not enough, however, to be noticed except in the most careful examination. On this account we offer this piano at a great reduction from regular cash price. The musical part is in perfect order, and is of the latest improved scale, with 7½ octaves, full agraffe attachment, &c., and will be warranted in every respect. This is a chance rarely offered, to secure the best piano in the world at a very low figure. MELLOR & HOENE. 79 Fifth avenue.

Searching for the Body.

Captain Jas. H. Rees, of the burned Exporter, writing from New Orleans on the 12th inst., to a friend in Cincinnati says: "I returned on Tuesday from the passes, where I had gone by skiff. Since my return, have not been well, as I suffered greatly from the effects of the sun, mosquitoes, &c. Was gone seven days, and in that time searched every foot of shore on both sides, and have enlisted the sympathy of all the planters along the coast; in fact, I have no doubt whatever but that we will get my sister's body should it ever rise. The reward we offer is about $800, jewelry and all, so you see no one would have any object or anything to gain by not reporting the recovery. I almost despair of ever finding her, yet I cannot give her up yet, and I will not leave New Orleans so long as there is a shadow of hope. I have wanted for nothing to enable me to pursue my search; my smallest wish has been granted by all, and I shall remember the people of New Orleans with feelings of gratitude.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The Examination of Classes—Programme of the Closing Exercises.

The various examinations for graduation and promotion were held at the High School this week. The result of the examination for graduation from the Academical, Normal and Commercial departments is not generally known.

The closing exercises for the school year will commence on Wednesday, June 23d, when the Hon. J. M. Kirkpatrick will deliver the annual address before the Phi Kappa Pi, Dean, and Cochran Literary Societies, at 1 o'clock P. M. in the High School hall; and at 2 o'clock the same afternoon there will be an exhibition of the work of the various classes in drawing. Citizens, generally, are cordially invited to attend these exercises. Tuesday evening, June 22d, the classes-day exercises will take place in the High School hall; Thursday evening, June 24th, commencement exercises at Opera House, Fifth avenue, and Friday evening, June 25th, alumni reunion at High School hall.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

The closing performances of the comic trick pantomine of "Jack and Jill" will be given this afternoon and evening, and those who have not yet improved the opportunity of seeing it and indulging in hearty laughter should do so before the combination leaves. The musical rocks of the Jee brothers and their "Belles in the kitchen" are novel performances and quite amusing and entertaining. The other specialists are the juggling Langlois brothers, the lady velocipedists and the wonderful Vaidis sisters, whose acrobatic and gymnastic performances have probably never been surpassed in this city by children of their age.

On Monday evening Neil Bryant's full minstrel troupe, from New York, opens a week's engagement. It has been reorganized, retaining the old favorites and gaining the best and most popular from other companies. It comprises Delehanty and Hengler who are so favorably known here as to need no words of introduction or commendation; also E. M. Hall, banjoist, Walters and Morton, song and dance men, Billy Barry and E. M. Kayne, Ethiopian comedian and burlesque tragedian, and the famous Bryant Quartette including Messrs. Templeton, Kelly, Raymond and Kayne. Refined minstrelsy generally draws as good audiences in Pittsburgh as does the drama, and this organization will doubtless meet with a full measure of success next week.

OUT OF WORK.

The Poverty to Which Families are Sometimes Reduced.

David Ayres, his wife and five children, the eldest a girl fourteen years of age, arrived at the Union Depot yesterday morning, all of them having walked from Wheeling on their way to Saltsburg. The whole family was in a pitiable plight, the children being in their bare feet, and the wife's shoes ready to drop to pieces. They were tired, haggard and hungry looking, but their demeanor was quiet and reserved, and they did not push themselves upon any one in quest of food or lodgings. Ayres said that they lived near Wheeling, W. Va., and followed farming as an occupation, but work becoming scarce, he was thrown out of employment, and concluded to come to Saltsburg. What little traps they had were packed up, and last Tuesday morning they bid farewell to Wheeling and started on their wearisome tour on foot. Ayres had a very little money, not sufficient to buy food even for a day or two—but they were kindly treated by the people along the road, who gave them all they could eat, and at night they slept in outhouses or under any covering that offered itself. They traveled in this manner until the Union Depot was reached, when the attention of Officer Austin was directed to them and he procured them meals which were furnished gratuitously by the proprietor of the Union Depot Hotel. Yesterday afternoon tickets were procured and they left on the train for Saltsburg.

The new pastor is quite a young man, but has given great satisfaction to the congregation thus far, and gives promise of being very successful—both in the pulpit and out of it. Communion services will be held in this church to-morrow.

SACRED music, what is it? It is music which has been associated with worship and used for that purpose? If this be a true definition, then a church is to be still considered a church, though its floor be cleaned, and it be habitually given up to the purposes of the ball-room and the opera. If sacred music be not used for the object of worship, then it does not seem to us that it remains sacred. It is simply music of a solemn or soothing character used for purposes of enjoyment. There is no necessary wrong in this any more than there is in being struck with the beauty of ecclesiastical art when one sees a chalice in a goldsmith's shop. But we do contend that music ceases to be "sacred music" when it is employed in Sunday concerts. There is no pretense that it is then used for worship. Moreover, under this title anything pretty much that was ever composed can be called sacred, since operatic strains have done ample duty in church choirs. For music to be "sacred," it should be consecrated, that is, "set apart" for purposes of worship, and when it is simply used as a money-making and pleasure-seeking device on the Lord's Day, it is no more "sacred," it seems to us, than the Bible is holy, when used for a footstool or a seat.—The Churchman.

THE HARTMAN INVESTIGATION.

Continuation of the Examination of Witnesses.

An adjourned meeting of the special committee of Allegheny Select Council appointed to investigate the charges preferred against Mr. Charles Hartman, a member of Select Council, was held last evening.

A number of witnesses were examined in regard to Mr. Hartman being in partnership with Mr. Shetzel, the contractor for grading and paving of McClure avenue, but none of them knew anything of their own knowledge, but merely by report.

Mr. John Shetzel, the gentlemen to whom the contract for grading and paving McClure avenue, and with whom Mr. Hartman is charged to be in partnership, was then sworn. He testified that Mr. Hartman was not connected in any way with him in this or any other contract taken by him, and he neither furnished any money to complete these contracts, and there was no arrangement for him to get any part of the profits. He had employed several of his teams for which he paid him. In the case of Wilkins street both himself and Hartman had been employed by Mr. Swinner, the contractor, and they had been paid so much a day. Hartman was to receive nothing but what he had received for the use of his teams. Hartman had endorsed a note for him. Hartman was with not him directly or indirectly interested in the contract for improving McClure avenue. In regard to Preble avenue, the witness testified that he had given Hartman the dirt from McClure avenue for the digging of it and he filled up Preble avenue with this dirt for the railroad company.

Mr. Fetterman then submitted a number of certificates of citizenship, and he desired to prove that Mr. Hartman's father became a citizen after he (Charles Hartman) had become of age and to identify these papers, he desired to call some witnesses who were not present.

The meeting then adjourned until next Friday evening.

NOW IS THE TIME

To Select a Piano.

Messrs. Mellor & Hoene have just received at their wareroom Ten splendid Chickering Pianos, being the finest lot of pianos ever opened at any one time in this city. Among them are Five New Improved Square Grands, with Chickering's New Patent Agraffe attachment, which are pronounced the most perfect pianos ever produced in the world. Nothing can describe the sweetness, purity and grand majesty of their tone. There is also another of their new Upright Pianos—the most charming pianos that could be imagined. The demand for the Chickering Upright is so great that Mellor & Hoene can hardly get them fast enough to satisfy the demand. But any person of taste or judgment would rather wait even a year for a Chickering than go and buy any other make. There are also four Chickering squares in plain cases, but possessing all the musical excellencies of the finer carved ones, which are just the kind for those who wish the best piano, but do not wish to pay for any extra finish of the case. Persons contemplating buying a piano should not fail to visit Mellor & Hoene's warerooms, No. 79 Fifth avenue, and see their new lot of "Chickerings."

The Place for Epicures.

In strolling through the market yesterday we were attracted to stall No. 45, presided over by B. Pulpress, and there saw the choicest and most varied assortment of fresh fish ever seen in this market. The aim of Pulpress seems to be to procure fish in the best possible condition, and to have every possible kind of fish, as many very rare varieties attest. All orders from city or country filled with care and dispatch. Long experience has rendered him so familiar with the business, that parties can safely entrust their selections to his judgment.

To Capitalists and Business Men.

One of the best business locations in the city will be offered at auction sale on Saturday, June 26, at 2½ P. M. We refer to No. 82 Fifth avenue, now occupied by Geo. Crawford. Buy it at what figure you may, and of one fact you can be assured, viz: that it will never suffer any depreciation, but on the contrary, must increase in value as long as Fifth avenue maintains its character as the Broadway of Pittsburgh.

THAT BIG EJECTMENT SUIT.

The Charge of the Court to the Jury—The Instructions Given—The Jury Must Find for the Plaintiffs.

In the Common Pleas Court No. 2 yesterday Judge White proceeded to deliver the charge to the jury in the case of J. K. Moorhead et al. vs. the City of Allegheny et al. The Court said this was a controversy which began half a century ago, and that it was time it should be settled. For the reason that many persons who were living when the controversy commenced have passed away, and that the memory of those still living has grown dim, the Judge said that he had allowed the counsel great latitude in the introduction of evidence. This was an interesting case, because it carried us back to the days of the Revolutionary war, and brought fresh to our minds many incidents of the early history of Pennsylvania. The Judge then referred to the passage of an act by the General Assembly, at the close of the Revolution, setting apart certain lands in the western part of the State, north of the Allegheny and Ohio rivers, for the veterans of the war. Three thousand acres were reserved at the mouth of the Beaver river, and the same amount opposite Fort Pitt, where Allegheny city now stands. These were called "reserved tracts." A survey and plot of the tract opposite Fort Pitt was made in 1785 by Alex. McLean, which was exhibited to the jury in this case. In the survey he found that there were 3,025 acres in the plot. In 1787 an act of Assembly was passed directing that the plot should be laid out in lots and sold, the proceeds to go to pay the State debt. A plot which was exhibited in this case indicated streets and highways, but did not give their width. The patent grants for lots on Bank Lane, described them as bounded by the north side of Bank Lane. Bank Lane extended from the southern boundary of these lots to the low water line. It was intended as a public street, and, not being defined, would extend to the low water line. The State reserved no land in this reserved tract, and could convey no title to any land between Bank Lane and the river. The town of Allegheny was incorporated on the 14th of March, 1828, the southern boundary extending to the centre of the Allegheny river. In 1840, Allegheny City was incorporated and the southern boundary remained the same. But Allegheny did not have title to all the land within the boundary lines. Kilbuck Island was within the boundary lines. This extended the jurisdiction of Allegheny to Kilbuck Island, but did not extend title. In 1787, when this reserve tract was first laid out in lots, there was an island in the Ohio river called Kilbuck or Smoky Island, but it was not a part of the reserved tract. There was no law in the State at that time which permitted the taking up of islands between the State. Subsequently acts were passed for this purpose, and in 1806 Kilbuck made application at the land office for permission to take up this island described as containing about twenty acres. The appraisers fixed the valuation at twenty dollars per acre, and the survey showed that the island contained about seventeen acres. It does not appear that Kilbuck paid anything for the island.

The history of the island was then given by his Honor, from the time Kilbuck became possessed of it, down to the passage of an act of Assembly in 1873, perfecting the title of the plaintiffs to the island. This suit brought by the plaintiffs, he said, was based on this act of Assembly, and the boundary lines of their claim embraced between eighty and ninety acres of land. The Court said they could not recover any part of the channel, nor can they recover any more than what originally composed Kilbuck island. Allegheny defends in this case on the ground that the island is entirely swept away—that there is now no island there. Allegheny held that in pursuance with the act defining the high and low water marks the shore was extended out from the mainland to the low water mark, as defined by the act. The object of this act was to permit property-holders to fill out to the low water mark, and all property north of the line became attached to Allegheny or her property-holders.

In 1858, according to the Supreme Court, there was no island, and consequently none could be taken up. The plaintiffs could have had no valid title to the property at that time. Judge White said he did not wish to question the power of the Legislature to permit a party who once owned an island which has been swept away to regain it. It was a very serious question of law whether the act of 1878 gave the plaintiffs any title to the property or not; but this was a question which he wished to reserve to be argued in banc.

The jury were then instructed that they must find for the plaintiffs for all that property which formerly included Kilbuck Island, but no more. If on the argument of the points of law which were reserved the Court was convinced that the plaintiffs could not recover at all, the verdict would be set aside. The jury, however, must locate the island. They were to find the head of the island, its north low water line, but could not embrace in their verdict any part farther south than the low water line as marked by the Commissioners.

At the conclusion of the charge the jury retired, and had not returned with a verdict at four o'clock in the afternoon.

Resolved, That the Republican and Democratic parties, containing members who favor and oppose prohibition, are radically divided on this question, and in experience and philosophy both teaching that positive legislation cannot result from parties so divided, the establishment of the prohibition party has therefore become an imperative necessity, and its support a solemn duty on the part of temperance men.

Faultless.

Man's incompentency has given rise to the expression that "there's nothing perject." And while this may apply with much force to many departments of life, yet there are some who, having a natural apititude for their trade or profession, become so expert under the tutorship of the schoolmaster, Experience, as to produce articles of extreme excellence, if not perfection. We have been led to these thoughts by seeing a gentleman wearing a suit which was positively faultless in fit and as perfectly neat as is possible for human ingenuity and skill to produce. This suit was manufactured by T. Scandrett & Co., No. 225 Liberty street, and our wonder on seeing it was, why does not every man of neatness and taste have his dress suits made to order by Scandrett & Co.

Strawberries and Ice Cream.

Ladies, remember that strawberries and ice cream are not all of life, and that at a festival, a lady always appears to best advantage with her delicate little feet encased in the glove-fitting shoes and gaiters which are sold by R. Taggart, No. 129 Federal street, Allegheny. Also, that the amount you will save in the purchase of your shoes at 129 Federal street will procure you many a saucer of ice cream and otherwise greatly add to your enjoyment. Buy the best and the cheapest.

Fine Dress Suits.

Young men, before ordering that new summer suit you spoke of just step into B. Tiegel's, No. 53 Smithfield street, and examine his stylish and superior assortment of suitings, and our word for it, you will be pleased to order a suit from Tiegel, and still more pleased when you find how neatly you will be fitted, and how small the cost of a good suit.

The Fair and Strawberry Festival for the benefit of the English Lutheran Church, Allegheny, still continues, and will be open this afternoon and evening in the store room occupied by James Caldwell, Federal street, where you will find a great many useful and funny articles for sale at low prices to close the balance on hand. Come and spend a pleasant evening.

A REVIEW OF "BLACK ROBES."*

Through the kindness of a friend my attention has been directed to a very remarkable book of three hundred and sixty-six pages, with the title quoted below. It is truly a remarkable volume, because, while the author is a professed Protestant and a member of the Presbyterian Church, it is on the one hand a highly wrought eulogy of Popery, and on the other a broad caricature of the leading denominations of Protestantism, including the Church to which the author belongs. As this seems a very extraordinary position for a Presbyterian, especially at the present day, I propose to furnish the proof from the volume before us.

1. The author teaches that Presbyterianism is a human device and not a divine system.

Thus on page 281 of "Black Robes" we read as follows: "John Knox (was) the Maker of Presbyterianism,"—a new faith which it was his (Knox's) choice to proclaim." Observe—"a new faith." Of course this "faith" can not be found in the Bible, which even in the New Testament form is near two thousand years old. Again: "John Knox, the first of Presbyterians, merited the scarcely complimentary epithet of the 'Iconoclast'—and his disciples have perpetrated for themselves a fame of reproach for deeds of violence and vandalism done by their hands." Other authors of the same grade of intelligence, have designated John Calvin as the founder of Presbyterianism, and the gross ignorance of the latter is not quite so palpable and inexcusable as the blunder of the author of the volume before us. Such is Presbyterianism! How it has happened that this writer has remained for many years in membership with such a human scheme of religion, is singular enough—especially as he has made the discovery that Popery is a system after his own heart. On this topic he is especially clear and explicit, thus:

2. Of the Jesuit missionaries, who, in early times, went to the Indians, we find the following account: "Inspired by a sublime devotion, the self-denying Priest has never hesitated to respond to a conviction of duty," "preaching repentance and faith (query, penance and faith) to the Huron and Iroquois, and administering the saving sacrament of baptism (elsewhere called the redeeming rite of baptism) to his converts."—p. 11.

Again: These priests, our author tells us, "were an illustrious company"—not like the vandals, John Knox and his disciples—"an illustrious company"—"who dedicated themselves to martyrdom, that their faith with its saving grace might be implanted in the hearts of the heathen."—p. 14. Of course Presbyterianism "made by John Knox" had no "saving grace" to implant!

Once more: "The religion of the Jesuit (which our author places in broad contrast with the religion of the Puritan"—"cold, rigid, vindictive") "was eminently a religion of the heart. Love was the cardinal element of his (the Jesuit's) faith. Christ with him, was all in all." p. 12. This while Presbyterianism is branded as the profane invention of John Knox.

Popery, as represented by its worst form, Jesuitism, is extolled as "the sublime devotion" which carried "the saving sacrament of baptism" and "implanted saving grace" in the hearts of the Indians. Of the practical working of this "saving grace" the author adduces the instance of one of these Jesuits, "who," he assures us, "so nobly exemplified and so brilliantly adorned the traditions of the faith," and who, when within an hour of his death, is exhibited as praying: Mater Dei, memento mei—"Mother of God, remember me!" So of another, whom he calls "Old Menard," he says: "He hazarded his life for the love of Jesus," and "at the dawn and decline of each day was accustomed to pray: Mater Amata, ora, ora pro nobis—"Mother beloved, pray, pray for us!" Of this sort of religion our author writes as follows: "Thus, by the feet, the beautiful feet of them that bring glad tidings of good things, were both the messengers of the Gospel." p. 39-52.

These are but specimens of the extravagant laudations of the Jesuits, for their zeal and devotion—"amid perils seen and unseen—perils that threatened death, and visited it in every form of terror and every conceivable shape of torture." One example is that of Father Jogues rushing into the flames to administer the "saving grace of baptism" to a prisoner whom the Indians were burning at the stake! Through more than eighty pages this is the burden of the song: "What sublime devotion!" "What charity—the greatest of the three graces which constitue the glory of Christian character!"

It is almost a pity to spoil so beautiful a picture of apostolic devotion. But the truth must be told. We have the highest authority for the statement that even "Satan is sometimes transformed into an angel of light." Look, for example, at the "pillar saints" of Popery. They, according to Butler, and others, are a part of "the god's many" to which the Papist is taught to address his prayers! Did any of these Jesuits of "the Black Robes" exceed those "pillar saints" in their self-inflicted tortures? Look at the poor heathen of modern times, holding his arm in an upright posture until it withers away, &c., &c. False religions (mere fanaticism) have often had their martyrs as well as the truth. A word to the wise.

Nor must we omit to inquire of the author of these high wrought eulogies of Jesuits and Jesuitism, by what authority and under whose appointment these priests held their commissions? The answer, of course, is the Pope organized the company of the disciples of Loyala and appointed them to their work. But our author professes to be a Presbyterian, and goes to the communion table as such. Well, let him read the confession of faith of his own church—chap. 25, sec. vi: "There is no head of the church but the Lord Jesus Christ. Nor can the Pope of Rome, in any sense, be the head thereof. But is that anti-Christ, that man of sin and son of perdition that exalteth himself in the church against Christ, and all that is called God?" Now, as the stream cannot rise higher than the fountain head, and this "head" is "the man of sin," what must his emissaries be? What sort of zeal must that be which flows from a fountain which is "anti-Christ, against Christ?" In a word, to any one tolerably informed of the past persecutions and cruelties of Popery and Jesuitism, all this prating about the love, and charity, and sublime devotion of Romish priests savors strongly of the ludicrous.

PITTSBURGH FEMALE COLLEGE.

Musical Contest for the McKee Prize—The Successful Competitor—The Vocal Efforts.

Last evening a musical contest took place in the chapel of the Pittsburgh Female College for a gold medal, known as the McKee prize, which was announced to be given the contestant evincing the greatest proficiency in the musical art. Before the exercises proper were begun, Rev. I. C. Pershing, D. D., President of the College, took the rostrum and stated that the prize to be awarded was not so valuable in itself, but it was considered of great worth by those who would compete for it, inasmuch as it was to be given to the one who showed herself to be the best performer of the evening. Besides the medal offered, an "honor" was to be awarded to the vocalist who proved herself to be the most worthy on the occasion. Professors F. Zitterbart and Chas. Wade were selected as judges, the former of the instrumental and the latter of the vocal efforts. The professors took their position in the audience, and the exercises begun. The following is the programme:

Prayer	Rev. S. P. Woolf.
Sonate Pathetique	Mina Bastress.
La Zingarella	Effie Voigt.
Gentle Julia	Agnes Weir.
Clochette	Laura Augustine.
Capriccio	Nannie Ballard.
When the Tide Comes In	Olive Ritts.
Rondo de Concert	Mary Shutterly
Love Hailed a Little Maid	Annie Bucher.
Whispering Winds	Julia Woolf.
L'Estasi	Sadie Meininger.

At the conclusion of the performance, the judges retired to arrive at a decision. While they were out, Dr. Pershing took occasion to say that the college had an attendance during the last year of two hundred and forty-eight students, which was only excelled by a single Female Seminary on this continent. He spoke of the panic and its effects upon business, but was glad to say it had not been seriously felt as far as the patronage of the college was concerned.

In about fifteen minutes the judges returned, and their decision was read by President Pershing, who, in accordance therewith, presented the gold medal to Miss Agnes Weir. The "honor" was awarded to Miss Olive Ritts, and honorable mention was made of the performance of Miss Annie Bucher. The exercises throughout were very entertaining, and reflected great credit upon those who have the music department in charge. A large audience greeted the performers, and in retiring from the stage each one was heartily applauded.

Summer Resorts.

For a long time Pittsburghers have complained that there was no summer resort where a man could enjoy the beauties of nature, and escape the heat of the city, unless he left and hied away to some watering place, and thereby neglected his business, which all men could not do. This has been remedied by one of our enterprising citizens, Mr. W. S. Jackson, proprietor of the lovely place called "Idlewood." Mr. Jackson intends over-seeing it himself, which is a guarantee that everything will be first class. Near to the city, and at the same time in the country, in the true sense of the word, we know of no more desirable place to take up a summer abode. We have no doubt he will be crowded, as no such opportunity has been offered before.

See Yourself as Others See You.

We don't propose to moralize on the above topic, except so far as it relates to a certain pair of French plate mirror signs, at the entrance to a certain piano and organ house on Fifth avenue—Mr. J. Smith—we assume this name because it represents in a great measure the great number of wise people there are in this community. But to return. Mr. J. Smith has made up his mind to buy an organ, and his numerous and disinterested friends have exhausted themselves in their efforts to fasten on his attention the merits of as many different makes of organs as he has fingers and toes. But after a thorough examination of all the facts in the case, he finds that the great Estey cottage organ has been before the public twenty-nine years, and that it has not only been known, but favorably known, all these years, and not only that, but the longer it is known the better it is liked, and that in power, brilliancy and purity, together with the soft, rich mellowness of tone peculiar to the Estey, (wherein lies its greatest charm for the cultivated ear,) and also the astonishing number and variety of grand effects which can only be produced to perfection in the Estey Organ. After learning all this to a certainty, as there can be no disputing these facts, and also that he can buy a real genuine good organ (an Estey) at such prices and on such terms as they are being sold at S. Hamilton's, 77 Fifth avenue, he repairs thither at once, and as he approaches and enters the doorway of this establishment he beholds a sensible man in the performance of one of the most sensible acts of his life. Then having purchased an Estey Organ, or a Bradbury, or Decker & Barnes Piano, he will ever after see himself as others see him, in the light of this action, the most sensible of men. If you doubt it, just ask Mr. Hamilton, at 77 Fifth avenue.

To Those Who Have Under Contemplation the Purchase of a First-Class Piano.

That "Steck" Pianos can be purchased on easy monthly or quarterly payments is now an assured fact. Heretofore it has been an impossibility to secure a first-class piano on terms above mentioned. Cheap, trashy pianos have always been offered and sold in this place, and at prices touching, and in some instances exceeding, the price asked for a first-class "Steck," which took the first Gold Medal over all competitors at the Vienna Exposition. Our townsman, John Zweidinger, 136 Smithfield street, who controls the agency for East Ohio, West Virginia and West Pennsylvania, has made arrangements whereby he can sell these unexcelled pianos on the easy system. Cheap pianos are made for speculation and not for durability, as a great many are finding out to their sorrow, and now would gladly make a heavy sacrifice to have their "shoddy pianos" exchanged for a "Steck." Zweidinger's was established in 1856, and by close attention to business, and being a practical musician, always buying first-class goods and selling at the smallest living profits, he has commanded the largest and best trade west of New York. A large and varied stock of "Jubilee" organs on hand, which are first-class in every respect; new style cases, new stops and new effects. Sold on easy monthly payments to suit purchasers. Remember—John Zweidinger, 136 Smithfield street.

For Value Received, I Promise, &c.

There is neither man nor woman with soul so dead, as to grudge the payment of money, knowing that they are to receive their money's worth. And in this connection we would mention the business house of Wm. Martin, 108 Federal street, Allegheny, where the best quality of Boots, Shoes and Gaiters are sold fully as cheap as many houses sell the pasteboard article. Well prepared material, with careful workmanship, enters into all his manufactures, and as a consequence, parties who purchase of his boots and shoes receive full satisfaction in their wear. The best is the cheapest.

The Estey Cottage Organ

has now been manufactured over twenty-nine years, and the same genius that has brought it up to its present eminence as the great leading organ of the world, is embodied in the long headed, keen eyed, Jacob Estey, senior member of the firm; and although his hair is as white as the driven snow, his long powerful frame, surmounted by a long head, is as active and energetic in the management of his immense business as a young man of thirty, while his genius and inspiration for the development of the organ that bears his name appears to gather strength and freshness with advancing years.

An Excellent Workman.

Mr. Samuel Wood, Jr., whose establishment is at the corner of Penn avenue and Ninth street, is a skilled workman in every branch of the carpentry and is very moderate in his charges. Special attention given to repairing and remodeling.

The Commissariat of the Body.

The stomach is the commissariat of the physical system. It furnishes the natural sustenance of every organ. If disordered, the whole body languishes; but, however affected, its tone and vigor may always be restored by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The regularity in its operations which this grand tonic alterative establishes is the most direct means of obviating physical debility, impurities of the blood and affections of the discharging organs. We know that if digestion or the habit of the body is obstructed, the entire physique is weakened in consequence of insufficient conversion of the food into blood; and it is equally certain that the refuse of the system not wholly thrown off is sure to contaminate the vital fluid and surcharge the bowels and kidneys with vitiated matter which weakens and inflames them. The Bitters, by strengthening the organs of discharge, enables them to act vigorously, thus liberates the pent up waste which would otherwise work incalculable injury.

A CHERISHED DESIRE.

For years it has been the cherished desire of a large class that there might be a medicine discovered which would entirely cure Scrofula and not leave a taint of the disease in the system.

Setting aside all controversy upon the theory of transmissible scrofula, the fact is undisputable that the disease has existed for centuries, and was never more prevalent than at the present time; and though it is hereditary in its nature, the more frequent cause of the disease may be attributed to whatever impairs the vital energies, such as dissipation, unwholesome food, intemperance, want of cleanliness of person, over exertion of mind or body, etc.

Scrofula often manifests itself in glandular tumors, frequently in the neck, causing no pain at first but proceeds slowly to an inflammatory state, and generally after a long time, forms an ulcer. In some cases the eyes are the principal seat of the disease, having constantly an inflamed appearance. The bones of scrofulous persons are liable to disease, especially those of the spine. The lungs are particularly liable to an attack by the formation of tubercles, and invalids are often deceived into the belief that they have deep-seated consumption, and for which they are treated, when in reality their trouble is caused from Scrofula in the blood.

In all the various forms of Scrofula, and the long train of diseases it induces, the patient can only obtain substantial benefit through the blood with vegetable substances, and from which VEGETINE is carefully compounded from the best ingredients the dispensary of nature furnishes, making it one of the greatest cleansers of the blood that is or can be put together.

VEGETINE will eradicate every trace of Scrofula from the system, as the following reliable evidence will show:

SPENT ALL MY MONEY
For Medical Advice and
PAYING FOR MEDICINE

BOSTON, May 15, 1871.

H. R. STEVENS: Dear Sir—I have been a great sufferer from Scrofula and Scrofula Tumors (as many in this vicinity can bear testimony,) and I think the whole world ought to know of my case and how I was cured.

About eleven years ago several small kernels made their appearance on the glands of my neck, gradually growing larger, and one of them grew into so large a tumor it was frightful to look at; while the others would range from the size of a hen's egg down to a good sized chestnut.

For a period of ten years I spent all my earnings obtaining medical advice and paying for medicine, getting no better and constantly growing worse; have thoroughly tried every remedy that we could hear of which was recommended for the blood; have been treated by the physicians at the hospital and by those who bear the title of being the best physicians in Boston, and was told by them that they could do nothing more for me, unless they cut out the large tumor, which had at this point reached an enormous size.

I had frequent attacks of dizziness, with a constant pain in my head, and most excruciating pains in my side; was very weak and much reduced, and all the physicians who attended me pronounced it the worst case of Scrofula Tumors they had ever seen. This was my hopeless condition when I heard of VEGETINE and how it was curing Scrofula where everything else had failed. I procured some of it, and discontinued the use of all other medicines, and in less than two weeks I could see a great change; I was relieved from the pain in my head, side and dizziness. I gained strength from day to day. I followed on taking VEGETINE for one year, according to directions, and it has entirely restored me to health; the large tumor and small kernels have all disappeared from my neck, and the whole surface of my skin is fair and smooth. All my friends, to whom reference can be given, pronounce this the most remarkable cure of Scrofula Tumors they have ever heard of; and this one case must convince any one suffering from any disease of the blood, though physicians do say you cannot be cured. You can be if you will persevere and take this good medicine, for it will, without doubt, cure you, as it did me. I am, sir, respectfully and gratefully yours,

ELLEN O'HEARN.

MISS O'HEARN has been a domestic in my family for eleven years, and I fully endorse the above statement. I think the great value of VEGETINE ought to be known in every family, and I improve every opportunity to speak in its favor.
